Alarming Decrease in Food Animals
Leads to Drastic Measures to Conserve Supply.

Austria-Hungary, by further ministerial decrees, has placed into effect rigid restrictive measures, governing the sale and consumption of meats of all kinds, as a result of an official inventory, disclosing an alarming decrease in the supply of food animals within the empire.

To conserve the supply of fats and oils the populace also is prohibited from eating any foods cooked in oil or melted fat. Retailers are compelled to submit daily lists of purchasers and amounts obtained. The penalty for violation of the decree is $1,000 or six months imprisonment.

BRITISH WILL TAX LOAN SECURITIES

Chancellor of Exchequer Says Levy
Will Be Urged on Amounts Taken Over From People.

Special to The Washington Herald.
London, Aug. 23.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald McKenna in commons today made a statement on the new £200,000,000 loan which has been secured in the United States, saying that it has been guaranteed by the deposit of American securities, Canadian government securities, and the securities of neutral governments. All were turned in at their market value.

A member asked if the securities of the Canadian and neutral governments would not have been sufficient and whether it was the intention of the government to impose a special income tax on the income from such securities as had not been deposited to guarantee the loan.

"Without doubt," replied Mr. McKenna, "Parliament will be asked to tax all securities the government took over from the people. Holdings of less than $5,000 can be deposited through the bank. If the securities are sold, the depositor would get any advantage that might be had."

PENROSE AGAIN HITS NEW REVENUE BILL

Declares Democratic Tariff Law "Monumental Failure" and Urges Return to Protective System.

Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, returned to his attack on the administration in a four-hour speech started in the Senate late yesterday on the emergency revenue bill.

Previously Senator Underwood had vigorously defended the existing tariff law, of which he is the author.

The Alabama Senator said that the Underwood tariff law had been drafted to meet conditions as they existed when the legislation was enacted.

"No one," he declared, "had foreseen the European war and no preparation was made to meet its extraordinary demands."

Discussing the failure of the bill to meet the expenses of the government, Senator Underwood said it was impossible to foresee the preparedness program which involved the expenditure of hundreds of millions.

Senator Penrose said the present tariff law was a monumental failure, and that many persons chartered to speak with authority said we were approaching conditions likely to be worse than any in the history of the country, when the European war intervened.

RAILROAD PEACE URGED BY COMMERCE CHAMBER

A letter dealing with the strike situation has been sent to President Wilson by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It is signed by R. Goodwyn Rhett, of Charleston, S. C., president of the National Chamber, and in part reads as follows:

"It is inconceivable that either the railroads or their employees should take the position that they are greater than the public whom they serve and the government which represents that public. It is inconceivable that they should refuse a request or demand from the head of the government to submit their irreconcilable differences to the investigation and subsequent judgment of a competent and properly constituted commission or tribunal."

POLICEMAN SLAIN BY GANG OF AUTO BANDITS

Special to The Washington Herald.
Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 23.—Four bandits shot and killed Patrolman John Laufhutte here last night, deserted a stolen automobile which contained a small arsenal, and escaped unharmed, a fusillade of shots from the dying policeman.

Laufhutte came upon the men repairing a puncture on a tire at a quiet spot in Beck street. The machine carried no lights and the officer called attention of the driver to the fact. He received no answer and threw his searchlight into the body of the car.

The man stooping over the tire immediately opened fire. His second shot hit the officer near the head. Laufhutte staggered back and opened fire as the men took flight. They quickly separated and disappeared in different directions.

TIGHT BATHING SUITS LAND GIRLS IN COURT

One Young Woman Defies Coney Island Edict, While Other Tears Her Scanty Costume.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.
New York, Aug. 23.—Tight bathing suits the wear and tear thereof, were responsible for two young and pretty girls being arraigned before Magistrate Steers in the Coney Island Police Court today. In one case the girl would wear the suit because it was tight and in the other case the girl wouldn't for the same reason.

It seems the Coney Island police are conducting a crusade against the wearing of tight bathing suits—or at least against the public wearing of them anywhere outside of municipal shows.

Miss Hilda Yudis, who is 18 years old, was accused by Policeman Christian H. Waldeck. He blushing testified that while trying to keep cool he caught Hilda and another girl strolling leisurely. He was unable to give a technical description, beyond the facts that the suit was tighter than a miser, that the upper half consisted principally of suspenders and the skirt stopped abruptly four inches above the knees.

The girls moved slowly so as not to become overcome by the sun, thereby permitting a careful inspection. Policeman Waldeck ordered them to return to their boarding house and put on something tangible.

He said the other girl fled, but that Miss Yudis refused to obey.

Miss Sara Bass, 20 years old, was summoned to the court by Mrs. Rosa Padua, a bath house attendant, who complained that the young woman deliberately tore an $8 bathing suit, the property of the bath house concessionaire, Miss Bass, who swims like a fish, said the suit fitted her too suddenly when she put it on, and fearing it would disintegrate while she was in the water, she ripped it in in attempting to take it off.

Political Notes

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Radiating enthusiasm over Democratic prospects, Vance McCormick, campaign manager, came to Chicago today for a series of conferences with Middle West leaders.

Among the conferees were Judge W. F. Connelly, of Detroit; A. E. Stephenson, of Michigan; Otto L. A. Bude, of Wisconsin; E. G. Hoffman, and Bernard Kirby, of Indiana, and Gen. Haldeman, of Kentucky.

McCormick abandoned his conferences long enough to discuss the political situation with reporters.

"The Hughes tour," he said, "has been a complete failure. He has flattened out. He started out strong, but has grown steadily weaker."

"He is trying to play a fifty-fifty proposition—trying to please Crane, Penrose, and Smoot of his steering committee on the one hand, and the Progressive members of his campaign committee on the other. He cannot outguess one element without offending the other. He has not developed a single issue so far. He's been the biggest help we Democrats could have had."

New York, Aug. 23.—Some changes in the Democratic national campaign plans are expected to follow the return of Chairman Vance McCormick, from Chicago. It is reported here that Roger Sullivan gave McCormick an unsatisfactory account of conditions in Illinois and other Western States when he arrived here yesterday, and that the departure of the national chairman for Chicago was due to this.

Some Democratic leaders believe that no effective steps have been taken to win the Progressives in the Central West, but the methods probably will be changed in that section in the near future.

New York, Aug. 23.—Branch headquarters of the Democratic National Speakers' Bureau are to be established in San Francisco and Chicago. This announcement was made by Chairman Homer S. Cummings today. The San Francisco branch will take charge of all spellbinders beyond the Rockies. The Chicago branch will look after the Middle West. Irvin S. Cobb volunteered as a Wilson orator today.

He wrote Chairman Cummings that he will be available "if you think the public could stand me for two weeks."

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 23.—Chairman Arthur P. Gorman, of the State Tax Commission, today replied sharply to Mayor Preston's criticism of the State board for its recent reduction in the assessment of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Besides replying what he considers an imputation of the commission's honesty, Senator Gorman in a prepared statement added that if the mayor believes that he (Gorman) has shown favoritism as a member of the commission it is up to the city executive to say so with such terms as will enable the statement to be followed by the proper action for slander.

In concluding, the tax official raps the mayor for his alleged actions in the City Hall in connection with city employees.

WILSON WANTS BIGGER COMMERCE BOARD

President Wilson yesterday held a conference with Senator Newlands, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, concerning proposed legislation on the threatened railroad strike. The President urged Senator Newlands to endeavor to get the Senate to pass the bill recently passed by the House, providing two additional members for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

JURORS WEEP AS GIRL TELLS OF CONDITION

Foreman Collects $50 for 19-Year-Old Victim of Alleged White Slaver.

Special to The Washington Herald.
New York, Aug. 23.—So moved was the grand jury by the condition of Ida Cohen, a witness in the vice investigation yesterday, that John J. Dillon, foreman, passed a hat and $50 was collected for the girl, who recently became a mother. Mr. Dillon told the girl to call on him when that fund was gone. Many jurors wept at her recital through an interpreter.

On the strength of the girl's story, corroborated by many witnesses, the grand jury indicted David Parisch, alias Dubis Siberia, 53 years old, on a "white slave" charge.

Ida Cohen testified she first met Parisch during a garment workers' strike three years ago, when starvation forced her to accept the promise of money made her go with him. She remained in his employ until last June. Then her condition caused him to turn her out.

Having no one to turn to, and being unable to tell her story in English the girl slept for four days in the Delancy Street Park, getting what food she could, which was little. Finally she collapsed from starvation, and was sent to Bellevue Hospital, where her baby was born. The child only lived a few hours.

AUSTRIANS EXPECT LEMBERG WILL FALL, PLACARDS SHOW

London, Aug. 23.—The Austrian authorities at Lemberg are apparently preparing the population for the fall of the Galician fortress shortly. According to a wireless from Zurich, the military government at Lemberg has issued the following proclamation to the civilians of the town:

"It is advisable for military reasons not to defend Lemberg. It should be understood that the loss of the town will be merely temporary and that our armies will, in due course of time, come back and eject our enemies."

ment was made by Chairman Homer S. Cummings today. The San Francisco branch will take charge of all spellbinders beyond the Rockies. The Chicago branch will look after the Middle West. Irvin S. Cobb volunteered as a Wilson orator today.

He wrote Chairman Cummings that he will be available "if you think the public could stand me for two weeks."

BLAMES PACKERS FOR BREAD BOOST PROJECT

Representative Rainey Says Three-Cent Loaf Is Possible With Tax on Mixed Flour Removed.

Representative Rainey, of Illinois, told the Federal Trade Commission yesterday that certain Chicago packers are back of the movement for a 6-cent loaf of bread and declared he believed a 3-cent loaf was advisable.

The Chicago Representative wants the tax repealed on mixed flour as a means of reducing the price of bread, and his bill seeking this change is before the House Ways and Means Committee.

"I bought bread in the midst of the war zone for 3 cents a loaf," he said. "That is cheaper than it can be bought in the land of plenty. The meat packers are not content with controlling the price of beef, but they would like to get a strangle hold on the bread industry and boost the price to 4 cents." He said that fair treatment to mixed flour in the matter of taxation would make possible a 3-cent loaf of bread.

Notes of Camp Ordway

By WATSON DAVIS.

Capt. Horace Hobbs, U. S. A., senior assistant mustering officer at the camp says he will be just as glad as any man in the camp when the District troops strike tents and leave for the border. He has been to four camps already this summer. He was instructor at a camp for Tennessee militia officers in Knoxville, and at similar camps in Roanoke, Va., and Massachusetts. Just before the mobilization call he was at Saigrit, N. J., at another instruction camp.

Company I has a company clothes line next to its mess shack. It was erected by Artificer William Kay. At all times it is loaded with soldier garments. The men do their own washing, using a scrub brush. A wash board is not known in camp. Often clothes are taken to the shower baths when the men take their afternoon baths, and clothes and skin washed at the same time.

H. R. Stephenson, of Company L, has left the task of handling the records and papers of the company to become bugler.

Sergeant Vance L. Richmond, of Company I, is mustering over an order he has received. It states that he must stay at Camp Ordway and instruct recruits after the regiment leaves for the border. This does not suit him. The order has an official look, and is written in military form and phraseology.

Private Francis J. Stoecker, of Company I, is acting as verbatim reporter for the general court-martial that will try several delinquent guardsmen.

Some of the Battery A men got their heads together and produced this piece of "war" poetry entitled, "The Men with the Bright Red Hat Cords."

When the jolting of the caissons hums a tune so loud and clear,
And the scream of flying shrapnel is like music to the ear,
The Battery is in action, men, the big guns bark at last,
The men are trained to finest points, the shells are falling fast,
Oh, every shot's a hit, boys, the runners tried and true,
For the men with the bright red hat cords back up the men with the blue.

If the enemy should outnumber us or their fire be a half of death,
And the stubbornly fighting infantry falls back all out of breath,
Then lead me up with shrapnel or the solid crashing ball,
And with every flare of a good three-inch, we'll see their columns fall,
Again the infantry moves forward, their fighters through and through,
But those men with the flaming hat cords must back up the men with the blue.
